Through primary documents, movies, and first-hand experiences, come learn about the Chinese culture encompassing philosophy, religion, arts, literature, food, medicine, and women, etc. It welcomes those, who want to be exposed to non-Western cultural experiences; who are purely interested in Chinese cultural traditions; who are interested in contemporary China but hope to learn more about its historical background; who wish to have some foundation of knowledge about China before taking advanced courses on Chinese history; and who want to study abroad in or travel to China.
